Target Group / Addressees	Course aimed at graduates coming from all accredited higher education institutions and willing to train as professionals in the field of theology.
Entrance Conditions	graduation average grade
Further Education Possibilities	The master's programme aims at providing students with the appropriate tools for further doctoral studies.
Description of Study	Core disciplines: Christianity and paganism in the Europe of the first millenium; The elenist philosophical roots of European identity; Problems of the history of the social doctrine of the Church; The Christian roots of Europe; The morphology of European religiosity; Patristic and post-patristic theology; Strategies of interreligious and pluriconfessional communication; Anticlericalism and secularism during the XIX-XXth centuries.
Purposes of the Programme	The Master's Programme aims, in principle, at training and forming the students who desire to assume a manner of communicating the values of Christian faith, consistent with our secular and globalizing society. For that matter, these specialization courses provide the students with: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- philosophical, historical and theological knowledge that proves the existence of some Christian foundations of the European project;</li> <li>- the possibility of approaching thoroughly their own existential motivations, or of reformulating them on other grounds;</li> <li>- an appropriate training în the field of Christian religion and, in particular, of the history of European Christianity, for the forthcoming teacher</li> </ul>
Specialization / Area of Expertise	Theology
Extra Peculiarities	-
Practical Training

Final Examinations	Research thesis
Gained Abilities and Skills	- didactic competence, specific to this academic level, that makes possible the accomplishment of a differentiated catechesis (individual or in group, determined by age/intellectual and religious training); - theological and methodological knowledge, necessary to the scientific research in this field;
Job Placement, Potential Field of Professional Activity	The graduates in the field of Greek-Catholic didactic theology, bachelor's degree, can teach "Greek-Catholic Religion" in pre-university educational units. The competences acquired, especially from an ecumenical perspective, make the graduates able to get involved in the educational field of a society with human and social values, inspired by Christianity, that are generally shared by its members; their involvement is possible either directly, through didactic activity, or indirectly, through the way they express their opinion, their attitude, within a representative frame of the civil society.
